

Country Introduction

Tanzania, located in East Africa, is a nation of incredible landscapes and proud achievements. Home to Mount Kilimanjaro, the tallest free-standing mountain in the world, Tanzania embodies natural beauty and strength. Zanzibar, the "Spice Island," enchants visitors with its turquoise waters, white sandy beaches, and fragrant spice farms that reflect its rich history.

Beyond its natural wonders, Tanzania is a land of cultural pride. Kiswahili, a language that unites millions across East Africa, was born here. Our Tingatinga art, Tanzanite gemstones, and colorful traditions showcase the creativity and vibrancy of our people.

Tanzania is also making history with its leadership. Her Excellency Dr. Samia Suluhu Hassan, the first female President of the United Republic of Tanzania, is guiding the country with vision and dedication. Under her leadership, Tanzania is fostering an environment that encourages trade and investment, creating opportunities for both local and international businesses to thrive. With strategic reforms and initiatives, the nation is unlocking its economic potential and building strong connections with the world.

At Expo 2025 in Osaka, discover a nation where natural wonders, cultural heritage, and visionary leadership come together to leave an everlasting impression. Tanzania – Unforgettable.
